Some $2,000 more will be spent to install air-conditioning. The redecoration effort was sponsored by the Lions Club but it was actually an "all-out community effort with everybody helping out," commented Recreation Director Charles Gough.

Macmillan Returns From 6-Weeks Tour

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan returned from a six-week Commonwealth tour today and immediately rejected demands that he call a national election because of recent Conservative political losses.

The most recent and crushing defeat for Macmillan's Conservative came in the parliamentary election at the Lancashire county mill town of Rochdale Wednesday. A Labor candidate was elected a Liberal ran second, and the Conservative entry ran a poor third in what had been a traditional Conservative district.

The defeat, coupled with sharp declines in Conservative voting totals in other recent elections, brought a renewed chorus of demands from the Labor Party for a general election. But Macmillan said no.

Hunt Ends in Arrest of 3 Arkansans

WALNUT RIDGE (UPI)—Three young Arkansans said former Arkansas youths were captured two blocks from the police station here Thursday night after an 11-hour manhunt.

Two were teen-agers, formerly of Arkansas now living in St. Louis, and the third was a 21-year-old Dallas man, Carroll Vernon Dockins.

The two St. Louis teen-agers stole an automobile Tuesday at Poplar Bluff, Mo., and were joined by Dockins. They had driven around northeast Arkansas filling the gasoline tank and driving off without paying.

Driving between Jonesboro and Walnut Ridge early Thursday, the three were spotted by a weights inspector of the state police. A roadblock was set up at Walnut Ridge, and the three abandoned the car at a dead-end street. They fled to nearby woods.

At 10:10 p. m., Thursday, two were apprehended walking along a street near the police station by Police Chief Lawrence Perrell and a patrolman. A few minutes later, Marvin Reynolds, an FBI agent, apprehended the third. They were unarmed, and gave up without resistance.

They were held in jail Thursday night and were to be turned over to the FBI today.

Anti-French Demonstration in Tunisia

TUNIS (UPI)—Anti-French demonstrations by armed Tunisian youths heightened tension here today at the dawn of "Sakiet Day," a Muslim Sabbath dedicated to mourning for Tunisian victims of a French air attack.

Tunis's 10,000 French residents feared mob violence following two mass meetings scheduled here today.

Tunisian authorities already are blockading French army and navy bases in this country in support of demands for the withdrawal of French troops. Tunisians employed at the French bases began a 24-hour protest strike at midnight Thursday night.

Armed groups in streets: Armed bands of young Tunisians circulated through the streets of Tunis shouting "Get out!"

Arabs as well as Frenchmen were conscious of the tension. "Some say this city is like a powder keg waiting for a match," a Tunisian taxi driver remarked to a French passenger. "I say it is more like a whole gunpowder factory waiting to explode."

The Tunisians have cut off electricity power and food deliveries to some French garrisons and closed the big Bizerte naval base to French shipping.

Calm Man Is Best for Space Travel

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Air Force scientists have decided a man of calm, even temperament will make a better spaceman than the "tiger" type who excels in flying jet-fighter planes.

Col. George H. Steinkamp, director of the Department of Space Medicine at the Air Force's School of Aviation Medicine said Thursday he "prefers an individual of stable and predictable temperament" for space flights.

Steinkamp made his comments after observing Airman Donald Farrell, 23, for five days on his simulated "flight to the moon."

The Bronx, N. Y., airman is now on his "return flight" to earth after a simulated journey around the moon in an airtight, three-by-five foot space cabin.

His week-long trip will be over Sunday. "He's in perfect shape," Steinkamp said of Farrell's condition. Steinkamp told newsmen at a briefing Thursday he has a "stack of plans 15 feet high" for now and better space cabins. As far as the next step is concerned, he said, "There are many ground tests yet to come and more research into this area."

Fire Destroys 3 Buildings in Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (UPI)—A spectacular fire raged out of control for nearly two hours in downtown Little Rock Thursday night, destroying three businesses with damage estimated at between $150,000 and $175,000.

Flying glass injured one fireman. A dozen others were overcome temporarily by smoke.

The fire was between Capitol and Sixth on Center Street. It destroyed the Besser Hardware store, the C. W. Cobb barber shop and Albee's liquor store.

The blaze was discovered about 8:35 p. m. in the rear of the hardware store. The interior was ablaze when firemen arrived.

Brilliant flames shot into the sky, and heavy black smoke blanketed the area. It was brought under control about 8 p. m.

Ladderman Deati Brown, 29, was taken to Arkansas Baptist Hospital, but his condition was not considered serious.

Uranium Is Found in Asphalt Rock

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Significant amounts of uranium have been found in the ash of oil extracted from asphalt-bearing rocks in western states, the Geological Survey announced Thursday night.

The survey made an examination and appraisal of asphalt-bearing rocks in 45 areas in California, Utah, Wyoming, Montana, New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma and Missouri on behalf of the raw materials division of the Atomic Energy Commission.

A total of 202 samples from these areas were examined for their uranium content. The significant amount of uranium in the ash of oil extracted from the rocks were found in seven of the 45 areas tested. These areas are Chalchone Creek, McKittrick, Edna, and Los Alamos, Calif.; Vernal, Utah; Sulphur, Okla.; and Ellis, Mo.

All except the Chalchone area contain large estimated reserves of asphalt-bearing rock, ranging from 15 million to two billion tons.

The survey said it believes most of the asphalt deposits are oil residues, and that uranium was introduced during or after the late stages of oil movement and loss of the lighter oil fractions.

POLE BASE ESTABLISHED

LONDON (UPI)—A Russian expedition has established a planned base at the so-called "Pole of Inaccessibility," the geographic center of the Antarctic continent, and has started construction on the site, Moscow Radio said today. The broadcast said the new base, named Sovetskaya, will play "an important role" in scientific studies performed as part of Russia's contribution to the current International Geophysical Year.

More Violence Erupts in New York Schools

NEW YORK (UPI)—Senate juvenile delinquency investigators confer with top New York school officials today in the wake of fresh teen-age violence that included a daylight robbery of junior high school students.

James L. Sullivan, chief counsel for the Senate subcommittee on juvenile delinquency, scheduled an afternoon meeting with superintendent of schools William Jansen and other officials on New York's handling of violence in the schools.

The subcommittee will hold public hearings here Feb. 27 and 28.

In the latest outbreak of youth-lawlessness two Negro youths estimated to be 16 and 19 years old invaded the Macombs Junior High School in the Bronx.

Brandishing a long knife and club, they rounded up seven fourth-floor corridor monitors aged 12 to 14 and a 13-year-old girl. From the boys the robbers took a total of about $8 and four wristwatches. They did not rob or otherwise molest the girl. All the victims were white.

Detectives, meanwhile, questioned relatives and neighbors of a pretty, black-haired high school student, Lillian Mojica, 16, whose beaten and partly burned body was found in the cellar of her Manhattan home. The girl, New York-born daughter of Puerto Rican Parents, had a hole in the top of her head, apparently from a severe blow. The upper part of her body was charred as her clothes were burned off.

Her brother, Richard, 15, reported the grisly find when he returned home from school and neighbors notified police.

In other developments: A key witness at the trial of seven teen-agers charged with first degree murder in the stabbing death of a police officer testified that he had been the "warlord" of the Egyptian Dragons.

Two Arrested: A 15-year-old high school sophomore whose name was withheld and 17-year-old Robert Harrison were arrested on car theft charges in Queens Borough.

A bomb warning was telephoned anonymously to the Board of Education at its headquarters in Brooklyn. Police searched the building but found nothing.

The Board of Education announced that its get-tough policy under which more than 600 troublesome high school and elementary pupils have been suspended would end April 1. By that time the board expects the "intolerable" wave of violence that led to the crackdown will have been brought under control.

Youth Dies From Wreck Injuries

BATESVILLE (UPI)—A 17-year-old Izard county boy died in a hospital here early today of injuries suffered in an automobile accident last Wednesday night.

The victim was Steve Sims of Mount Pleasant, about 15 miles northwest of here. The officers said a car driven by Glen Finley, 16, also of Mount Pleasant, overtook a curve and turned over on Highway 9, in the south edge of Fulton county.

Sims, Finley and two other boys were en route to Viola to attend a girls basketball tournament. Finley and one other boy, Paul Bray, 17, also of Mount Pleasant, were hospitalized here.

Accused FCC Official Wants to Tell His Side to the House Probers

President Gets Committee Okay to His Budget

By VINCENT BURKE

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Appropriations Committee today approved almost intact a bill, carrying 99.7 percent of the funds requested by Eisenhower to operate the Interior Department and related agencies in the fiscal year starting July 1. The overall reduction amounted to only $1,239,000.

That compares with last year when the President requested about 101 million dollars more for the same agencies and the committee chopped off 60 million dollars.

In approving the measure today the committee made it clear that it felt the President had gone too far this year with some of his proposals for economies in non-defense spending.

It recommended Congress increase the President's budget by $800,000 for the Bureau of Indian Affairs to build urgently needed schools for Indian children; by $500,000 for forest and land management employee housing; and by $651,000 for forest roads and trails. The committee said 8,000 Indian children were without school facilities.

However, the three proposed increases were more than offset by other committee-voted reductions. The group thumbed down entirely $300,000 requested to acquire land for Superior National Forest and $1,120,000 for land acquisition by the National Capital Planning Commission to add to the District of Columbia's park, parkway and playground system.

Presbyterian Women Plan Prayer Week

The Women of the First Presbyterian Church will observe a Week of Prayer and Self-Denial for World Missions, February 17-21.

Highlighting the week's activities will be a pot-luck luncheon, February 20, Thursday, in honor of Rev. Harold Borchert, a Presbyterian missionary on furlough from Japan.

The mission emphasis for the week will be Japan and programs around the theme will be given at the church each day at two o'clock in the afternoon, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Rev. Borchert was an officer and a member of the United States Army five years before becoming a missionary.

The Presbyterian Church has as its World Missions goal for 1958 an increase of twenty percent over any previous goal. This will mean fifty additional new missionaries and an increase in salaries of the present missionaries if the goal is to be met. Stress will be placed on this goal throughout the meetings.

Mrs. Jack Lowe will review part of the book "Cross and Crisis in Japan" on Monday. A general information program on World Missions will be given Tuesday by Mrs. Raymond Hughes, Mrs. Crit Stuart, Jr., and Mrs. C. Lynn Harris. On Wednesday a sound filmstrip "This Way We Choose" will be shown. Thursday, Rev. Borchert will speak at the luncheon and on Friday the Presbyterian Women will join with other church women of Hope for the World Day of Prayer at the First Christian Church at 2 o'clock.

DEATH OF THE CAT

NEW YORK (UPI)—The body of a man was found on the first floor setback of an apartment building Thursday.

Police recognized him immediately as Harry (The Cat) Santiago, an accomplished burglar. On the seventh floor of the building, they found now he died. A fire escape faced the bathroom window of an apartment on the other side of a four-foot airway. The window sill of the bathroom was stained with blood. "The Cat" had missed his jump, just barely. He cried for help, no one heard.

Future Farm Size Matter of Economics

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department said today the size of the future farm population is a matter of economics.

"The farm population will continue as large as incomes from agriculture or a combination of agriculture and off-farm work will encourage," the department said a fact finding report.

The department arrived at this conclusion after reviewing the farm population background, why there are fewer farmers, farm living conditions, and what the future holds for farmers.

The farm population on April 1, 1957, was estimated at 20,300,000, about 12 per cent of the total population of 170,510,000. A quarter of a century ago, the farm population was 32,333,000, or 23.9 per cent of the total population. The decrease in farm population during the last 25 years has been about 500,000 persons a year. One hundred years ago, farm people made up 65 per cent of the total population.

Average productivity of U. S. farm workers since 1940 alone has increased more than in the previous 120 years. In 1920, each farm worker produced enough to feed and clothe 4.1 persons. By 1940 this figure had risen to 10.7. By 1956, a farm worker produced enough for the needs of 20.8 persons.

Since 1940, the total output of farm products has increased about 36 per cent. In the same time, the nation's population went up 27 per cent.

Seeks Chancellor Post in 3rd Circuit

LITTLE ROCK (UPI)—Sam W. Garrett of Hot Springs announced today for re-election to another term as chancellor of the third chancery circuit. He filed his candidacy with the clerk of the circuit, composed of Garland and Montgomery counties.

Garrett was appointed to the position in July, 1952, to fill a vacancy left by the death of Chancellor William R. Duffin. He was elected at a special election in November, 1952, to fill out the unexpired term, and then was re-elected in 1954.

He was elected to succeeding six-year terms in 1940 and 1949 and 1952. Garrett was born in Hot Springs Sept. 29, 1891, and attended the Hot Springs public schools and Hope University law school.

FBI Called in to Check Charge of Taking Money

By NEIL MacNEIL
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Federal Communications Commissioner Richard A. Mack requested an early chance today to appear before House investigators and answer the "unsubstantiated charges, accusations, innuendoes and distortions" so recklessly made against him.

Mack, accused of accepting $2,050 in a contested television channel case, said in response to a question that he had no thought of resigning.

Mack made public a brief letter he sent to Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) of a House investigating subcommittee asking for a chance to present his side.

The charges were made against Mack Thursday by Bernard Schwartz, ousted chief counsel for the subcommittee.

"I am confident that when all the facts are presented to your committee, you will conclude that the accusations of Bernard Schwartz are without foundation," Mack told Harris.

Mack requested "an early opportunity to appear before your committee and answer the unsubstantiated charges, accusations, innuendoes and distortions so recklessly made by Bernard Schwartz."

Mack said he informed the office of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover this morning that he would cooperate with the FBI "at any time in every way possible." Apparat, aparat, a whittit, uap photograpers.

"Is there any thought of your just before Mack's letter was resigning," a reporter asked.

"No sir," Mack replied. In response to another question, Harris indicated his subcommittee calling Mack and other Mack said he did not know yet too might meet some time during the day in closed session to disfigure witnesses.

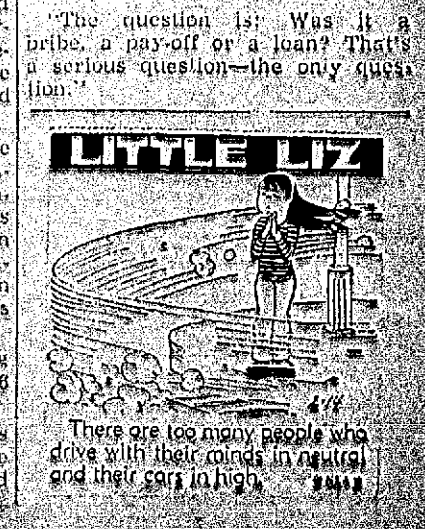

Public hearings resume Monday.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) said today his House investigating subcommittee will summon FCC Commissioner Richard A. Mack in a Miami television channel case. Harris said his group is cooperating with the FBI which opened another inquiry on Mack under orders from Attorney General William P. Rogers.

Subcommittee Chairman Rep. John Bell Williams (D-Miss.) said in the "shocking" allegations against Mack are proven, "they demand action by the committee and the executive branch." Williams, who moved to fire the man who produced the charges—former subcommittee chief counsel Bernard Schwartz—said he presumed Mack "is subject to the criminal code."

Verity Power to Fire: Government legal experts said President Eisenhower had the power to fire a Federal Communications commissioner.

The subcommittee's objective in calling Mack, a 48-year-old Democrat appointed by Eisenhower in 1955, was summed up by Rep. Joseph P. O'Hara (R-Minn.) who said: "The question is: Was it a bribe, a pay-off or a loan? That's a serious question—the only question."

DOROTHY DIX

Romance Needn't Stop Because of Man's Mop

Dear Dorothy Dix: My fiancé is a wonderful fellow but has a curious aversion to barbers — he lets his hair grow conspicuously long before he gets it cut. I don't want a husband buried beneath alfalfa. Should I let him go, or hang onto him? BERYL

Dear Beryl: A husband in the bush is worth two out of hand. Grab him, long hair and all.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a middle aged widow with a married son and a 12-year-old daughter to raise and educate. About a year ago I met a man who said he was divorced. We fell in love then he said he would marry me in a year, but wanted to quit going with me in the meantime. He lives in another town, and I began to make inquiries about him. I learned that he wasn't divorced, but had a wife and children with whom he was supposed to be very happy, and that he was also having affairs with women in other towns. When confronted with the facts he admitted he was married, but promised to get a divorce if I would marry him. I love him very much and believe I could change his way of living if I was married to him. He claims I am the only woman he ever loved. What should I do? LONESOME

Dear Lonesome: If I hadn't seen them with my own eyes I wouldn't believe that I have received hundreds of letters from incurable optimists just like you who blissfully hope that they can accomplish the impossible. Of course, you have no possible chance of either marrying the faithless husband, or of reforming him. The sooner you make up your mind to give up daydreaming, the better off you'll be. You still have your own self-respect, and the respectful love of your children. You'll lose both if you continue this silly pass at romance. You're not in love with the guy; you're just in love with the idea of any man. Get busy doing something useful with your spare time — volunteer work at a hospital, civil defense, a course to improve yourself — anything to get over this obsession. You'll avoid floods of future tears.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a girl of 12 and have a great ambition to be a doctor. Before I entered high school in the fall, I thought you might suggest some extra studying or reading I could do to help reach my goal. My parents are able to send me to college — in fact, they'd be disappointed if I didn't go, but they think this ambition is a passing fancy. GLENDA

Dear Glenda: To reach your goal you must have a great capacity for study, exceptionally good health and a stick-to-itiveness that will last through many disappointments. As soon as you enter high school, or even before if it's possible have a long talk with your guidance counselor, who can recommend the courses you should take. Do as much reading as possible about doctors and the field of medicine. Two books I especially recommend to you are about woman doctors, "A Woman Doctor," Caroline A. Chandler, M.D., and "Dr. Kay Winthrop, Intern." These stories will interest and instruct you. Best of luck.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Some people say the reason I can't get a boy friend is that I'm too picky. I don't think so. All I want is a guy with a good personality who likes sports, respects his elders, is polite and well-mannered. He must be clean-cut and above all, believe in God. This may sound like I'm an awful square but I'm not interested in boys who have no religion. C. C.

Dear C. C.: Your requirements don't sound unreasonable. In fact I'd say they just about cover the average American boy. Stick with your school and church activities and you'll get your man.

LEAD WITH YOUR LEFT

by ED LACY

THE STORY: Detective David Wintino and Detective Austin of Homicide are going to interview the widow of a retired policeman who was shot in an alley. The murder victim, Ed Owens, was delivering non-negotiable bonds for a brokerage house.

CHAPTER V

The woman who opened the door was dressed in a clean worn house dress that looked too heavy for May. She was plump, lots of veins in her fat legs, and her moon-shaped snubby face was topped with dirty gray hair braided around her head. Her eyes were red. Austin took off his hat as he asked, "Mrs. Ed Owens?"

"Yes, but if you're reporters I—"

"I'm Detective Austin and this is Detective—"

"Wintino, David Wintino, Mrs. Owens," I told her.

"I know you've been under a terrific strain, an ordeal, but we're on police business, and would appreciate it if you would answer a few questions. The sugar in Austin's voice sounded phony.

"I understand. I'm sorry I wasn't able to talk much last night. Last night... I still can't believe it. Step inside, please," Mrs. Owens said, holding the door open.

We walked into an old-fashioned neat living room: a clumsy big radio set with a million dials that probably still ran on batteries, an old seven-inch TV set in a large cabinet, an upright piano, two leather chairs, a couple of plain ones, and a couch that looked hard. Atop the piano there was a picture of a plain-faced girl with fat cheeks, about 18, and a cracked picture in a gold frame of a towheaded boy of about 12.

Mrs. Owens pointed to the leather chairs and we put it down and she sat on the couch and said, "I suppose you want to know about Ed."

"As a police officer's wife, you know we need all the information we can get to help us track down your husband's killer," Austin said like an idiot, as though he was selling something. "Do you live here alone, Mrs. Owens?"

"I do now. The Sarasohns who live upstairs, have been most helpful. They did all they could for me last night. I even slept up there. My daughter Susan is down in Venezuela. She's wired she's flying up for the funeral. Our son, Edward Junior," she nodded toward the picture on the piano, "was taken from us many years ago. Now Ed—"

"I just can't seem to think straight or believe it. He is dead, isn't he?"

"Yes, he is. I understand what you're going through and I'll try to make the questioning brief as possible. Now—"

"That's all right. I can talk about things. Only at times. Well, when Junior died it was bad but Ed was at my side. Now without Ed I feel lost, alone, kind of empty."

"Let's see Mrs. Owens was the victim of a nervous punk but were not overlooking any other possibilities of course. Did your husband have any enemies? Did he seem worried?"

"You wouldn't ask that if you'd known my Ed. He was always a easy-going man. His only troubles were financial and he never let them get him down. If anything he was in better spirits than ever lately. A few weeks ago he came home and started dancing me around. Janie," he says, "we may have that California collage, be raising oranges soon." He was in a gay mood all the time.

lately. "About this collage, do you think he came into some money?" I asked, although as junior man it was up to Austin to do the questioning.

"No, you see Ed had one vice, he loved to play the horses. I didn't mind, a person has to relax some way, I say. Whenever he had a spare dollar or two he would make a bet. Naturally most times he lost but whenever he won, maybe five or 10 dollars he was like a small boy who thinks he has the world by the tail. Ed must have made himself a few dollars and was talking big."

Austin asked, "Is it possible Mr. Owens was playing the races big and might have gotten in over his head with a gambling mob?"

The old lady stroked her curled braids. "I hope I haven't given you a bad impression of Ed.
